

DEMOCRATS PLAN CAMPAIGN TO KEEP CONTROL OF HOUSE

Chairman Lloyd, of Congressional Committee, and Aides Get Busy.

By JOHN SNURE.

Chairman Lloyd and the members of the Democratic Congressional committee have been getting busy in the last few days with the problem of how to carry the next House for the Democrats. They held an important conference here the other night, following a dinner at the Raleigh, in which the plans for the campaign were gone over and the outlook was thoroughly discussed.

The Democratic committee as a whole is imbued with the notion that the Democrats are going to continue to hold the House, and the committee is going to make its campaign the more systematic and vigorous in proportion as its hopes and prospects are flattering.

In the Democratic campaign for the control of the House for a number of years in the past it has been impossible to do a great deal of systematic and effective work for the reason that many members of the party were discouraged and hopeless, and thought the Republicans could not be dislodged. The victory of 1910 was brought about far less by good campaign management on the part of the Democratic Congressional committee than by a popular uprising of protest against the Republicans.

Must Work Now.
The Democratic leaders, most of them at least, understand this and appreciate that work must be done if the House is to be prevented from sliding back into the hands of the Republicans.

At the recent meeting of the committee three committees were named, executive, finance, and literary, and these committees will at once busy themselves with the work of the campaign. The purpose is to waste no effort. It is appreciated that the question of controlling the next House rests with a comparatively small part of the Congressional districts; that is, with the districts which are reasonably close. It is on these districts the Democrats will center their fire.

The extremely close districts will be given special attention. Democrats are now in Congress in a number of instances from districts normally Republican. Democratic victories were won in these districts two years ago unexpectedly, by reason of Republican factionalism and dissatisfaction. Some of these districts the Democrats know they cannot hold. Others they will try to hold. The districts which the Democrats think they have a show of retaining or gaining will be carefully classified and campaigns made in each of such districts such as the varying situations seem to warrant.

To Tell of Record.
The piece de resistance of the political menu which the Democratic committee will spread before the voters of the land will be the House record. The plan will be to show the voters that the Democratic performances in the House have tallied with the promises of the Democratic platform. It is thought this will be convincing to the wielders of the ballot.

Chicago will be the headquarters of the committee for the campaign. Headquarters will also be maintained in Washington. The Washington headquarters will be chiefly for the distribution of literature. Chicago will be the real base of operations as soon as the fighting becomes general.
The literary problem of the campaign is a big one. The plan of the committee is to send out great quantities of literature. The subcommittee in charge of this matter will go over the speeches made this session of Congress carefully and cut out those that are valuable from the standpoint of enforcing the Democratic gospel on the mind of the voter. One field of operations for the literary subcommittee will be the speeches of Roosevelt and Taft.
Democratic leaders think they can find a good deal in these speeches that will be to the Democratic advantage. The preparation of the campaign text-book will be another important piece of work. The literary subcommittee has this in charge.

Washington Shriners Welcome Brethren

Hundreds of local Shriners gathered at the Union Station last night and acted as a reception committee to the trainload of their brethren, comprised of the leading spirits in Washington and Baltimore Shrineries, who arrived from their trip to the session of the imperial council of the Shrine, at Los Angeles, Cal., the week of May 6. Imperial Potentate Hamilton Smith, of Baltimore, was in the party and was given a rousing welcome by the gathering of the local Shriners. In the party were also more than 100 members of Almas Temple, Ancient Arabic Order of Potentate Shriners, of this city, headed by Potentate William Hamilton Smith.

Auctioneers Bell Still; Office Workers Normal

To Capt. Michael Byrne, of the Sixth police precinct, belongs the credit of restoring to normal the nerves of the employees of the Patent Office after nearly two weeks of torture. He has accomplished the stopping of the auctioneer's bell in Seventh street northwest that clanged incessantly eight hours a day.
Application was made for a warrant charging the auctioneer with disorderly conduct, but it was refused on the ground that he had the right to ring his bell. When it looked as if the "despotic" for the employees of the Patent Office, Captain Byrne stepped in and by conciliatory methods received the assurance of the auctioneer that he would not again worry Uncle Sam's workers.

Chances Good for Congressional Game

Despite the boiling of the political pot and the amount of business now before Congress, officers of the playgrounds association still believe they can get the Republicans and Democrats to clash again on the ball field.
The date for the game has not been set, but the men who played last year have stated that they would all be getting up a game again. The Republican team last year was made up in part of Congressman Kendall, Anderson, Flint, Miller, Longworth, Porter, Lafferty and Reuben. The Democratic nine comprised Congressman Garrett, McDermott, Riley, Harrison, Kinkaid, Webb, Carter, and Scully.
The receipts of the game whenever it is played, will be used to carry on the operation of summer playgrounds.

Accident Is Fatal To Roosevelt Man

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 26.—Major William H. Robinson, of Hampton, N. J., who was brushed from the running board of the automobile that was taking Col. Theodore Roosevelt from a railroad station to an ocean pier here, died yesterday from the injuries he received in the accident.

Major Robinson was a member of the Roosevelt committee that was escorting the former President through the Second Congressional district. He was brushed from the automobile by a crowd and thrown under the car that was following and run over.

Anniversary Service.

A service of praise and thanksgiving will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon at Epiphany Lutheran Church, Fourteenth and U streets, in recognition of the anniversary of the dedication of the church one year ago today. The Rev. John T. Huddle, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, will preach.

HIGH LIVING COST DRIVES PREACHER FROM THE PULPIT

Prominent Ohio Minister Will Return to Profession of Art.

TOLEDO, Ohio, May 26.—Because of the rapidly increasing cost of living, Rev. C. E. Keller, prominent Ohio minister, pastor of the Wellington Congregational Church, has resigned his pulpit and retired from the ministry. He will return to his profession of art, which he dropped when he accepted a pastorate.

Announcing his intention to leave his pulpit August 31, he made the following statement to his congregation today: "Naturally, you want to know my reasons for this step. My chief reason is the financial reason. Permit me to explain: Somewhat more than eight years ago I entered the ministry, as most of you are aware. Previous to that time I was engaged in art work. I turned aside from the automobile by a crowd and thrown under the car that was following and run over.

"I may add also that I have had such indications presented in one way and another, the reception which my work is receiving in different cities as to encourage me to hope for better things. I think that I ought to return to this work while I am still a young man, that my chances may be the better to achieve success and financial reward."

LATTA IS LAUDED BY CONGRESSMEN IN HOUSE SERVICE

Former Legislator Was Valuable Servant, Declare His Associates.

"Our friend put aside great wealth that was being thrust upon him because he believed in the Golden Rule and practiced it in his business," said Congressman D. V. Stephens of Nebraska today in eulogy of the late Congressman James Latta, his predecessor in office. Congressman Stephens related how in the bitter days of crop failures and droughts in the early '90s Mr. Latta bore the financial burdens of a whole section of the State, came East to get money to tide over the stricken farmers, and how he persuaded the discouraged to stay in the fight instead of taking their lands as he might have done. When he died he owned 3,000 acres of rich land, the reward of fifty years of hard work. He might have had a hundred times this amount and have counted his wealth by millions.

Congressman Latta was serving his second term in the House when he died. September 11, 1911. Congressman C. O. Lobeck presided over the memorial services held in the House today, surrendering his chair while he added a brief eulogy to the many pronounced. Congressman Norris, Kinkaid, and Maguire, all of Nebraska, eulogized their friend, the type of man who made the West, who grew up with it, loved its soil, the monotony of its boundless distance, and was loved by his neighbors.

Johnny Was Wise.
Teacher—Now, then, Johnnie, tell me how the country is divided.
Johnny—Taint divided; one or two of 'em has got it all.
